FATE OF 8 NAZI SABOTEURS NOT FULLY DISCLOSED BY PRESIDENT, WHO GRANTS 24-HOUR DELAY FOR 6 AFTER SENTENCING THAT NUMBER TO ELECTROCUTION

Two Spared Death Penalty—Roosevelt, at 11th Hour, Halts Preparations for Execution of Others, Because He is Not Fully Convinced That Haupt Should Receive The Death Sentence

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—President Roosevelt, at a conference today, declined to disclose the fate of the eight Nazi saboteurs, after granting a 24-hour delay in an order to execute six of the German spies in the electric chair at the District of Columbia jail.

The six Nazis, originally doomed by Mr. Roosevelt to death before dawn this morning were given their 24-hour reprieve after having been visited by Army chaplains to make their final peace with God. It was possible that the President might give them another 24-hour stay in execution of the death sentence.

The President, almost at the 11th hour, halted preparations for execution of the six Nazis, it was reported, because he was not fully convinced that one of the sextette should be executed.

The doubtful culprit was said to be Herbert Hans Haupt, the 22-year-old American citizen, youngest of the invaders, the one who pleaded he came to the United States with the saboteurs in order to escape from Hitler's terrorism in Germany.

Besides Haupt, the President originally sentenced John Edward Kerling, Heinrich Harm Heimck, Robert Quirin, Hermann Heubauer and Warner Thiel to death in the District's electric chair. Only George John Dasch and Ernest Peter Burger escaped with sentences to life imprisonment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—President Roosevelt has approved the verdict of his military commission, sentencing six of the eight Nazi saboteurs to death, it was learned today, and has ordered them executed in the electric chair at the District of Columbia jail before another dawn.

All arrangements for the greatest execution in the history of the nation's capital have been completed, it was learned, and the six Nazi spies, who invaded the United States on a grandiose raid, will not live to see another dawn.

The six Nazi invaders who will be electrocuted, are: John Edward Kerling, Herbert Haupt, Heinrich Harm Heimck, Robert Quirin, Hermann Heubauer and Werner Thiel.

President Roosevelt spared the lives of two of the self-confessed Nazi saboteurs—George John Dasch and Ernest Peter Burger. Both apparently will be given long prison sentences. Dasch, reported to have turned State's evidence against his German colleagues, and Burger, reported to have given the Government valuable information, were said to have won a leniency plea from the military commission that tried the eight Nazis, who invaded the United States from German submarines in mid-June.

It had been generally believed that

Funds Given For Blacking Out Bensalem Auditorium

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 7—The Bensalem Township Emergency Police, of which group Elmer B. VanSant is chief, appropriated for the purpose of blacking-out the Bensalem high school auditorium the sum of $85. The auditorium is used as a defense center during black-outs. This money is part of that collected in a house-to-house campaign in their district by the emergency police to raise funds for necessary defense materials and expenses for which no other fund was available.

Chief VanSant recently donated a mimeograph machine to the organization. This makes possible greater efficiency in sending notices of meetings, and presenting each man with special instructions so often necessary.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Consider California
Washington, Aug. 6.

THE attitude of the Administration and of Congress toward the sales tax does not make sense. Their opposition is due to a combination of political cowardice and stupidity. It is cowardly to shrink from sound action through fear of resentment on the part of the voters. And it is stupid because all tests of public sentiment have shown that this resentment is non-existent.

IN ADDITION, it is unpatriotic because delay in enacting this tax enhances the dangers of inflation and, through lack of needed revenue, diminishes the ability of the Federal financial structure to stand the terrific strain of the war. From these obvious facts hardly any clear-headed man will dissent. Certainly, there is not a reputable economist

Get Your Gas Ration Supplements at Once

The Bristol Rationing Board at the Bath street school will be open tonight from seven to nine o'clock to deliver the Gas Supplements. It will not be necessary for the owner to call in person but it will be necessary to have the Owner's Registration Card; as the books will not be issued without it.

It was originally intended to notify the applicants by mail, but this has been impossible, due to the extraordinary number of applications filed at the local office.

Most of the applications have been acted upon by the Board and the Coupon Books are awaiting delivery.

If you have filed an application and have not received it, call at the office located in the Bath street school, from seven to nine on Friday night.

During the practice many wardens and police will have a chance to try out their first aid education. A number of casualties will be distributed throughout the area, bearing tags that will denote the "injury." The wardens will be expected to treat the injuries which will be inspected at first aid centers to be set up by the Bucks County Rescue Squad. First aid centers will

NEWTOWN MARKET PROPRIETOR AND BANK CLERK EACH HELD IN BAIL FOR COURT; FORMER DOES NOT TESTIFY WHILE LATTER ADMITS GUILT

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Aug. 7—had been withholding Anderson's checks when they exceeded the balance which was in Anderson's account. Anderson was summoned to the banking institution and being confronted with the facts said to have admitted that it was true, but denied knowing the amount which was given as $5,070.92, all the shortage being covered by an insurance company, thereby preventing the Newtown Title & Trust Co. from sustaining a loss. Sellers has been employed at the institution since 1938 as a statement clerk.

Morlok said that when Anderson was called into the bank he asked him: "Aren't you slightly overdrawn on this bank?" Anderson is said to have asked what was meant, and to this Morlok replied "Have you the nerve to look at this bank and ask what I mean?" It was then that Anderson is alleged to have stated that he had not paid Sellers any money, and that

COMPLETE WORK OF CONSTRUCTION, 200 HOUSING UNITS HERE

Wiring in Some Houses is Yet To Be Finished; Gas Mains Incomplete

A TEMPORARY HOLD-UP

When Mains Are Completed, Prospective Tenants Will Be Notified

With work completed on construction of the 200 housing units at the Bristol Terrace development, the housing project backed by the United States Government, the contractors, Stofflet & Tillotson, are moving from the premises on Beaver Dam Road.

Some of the 200 units are complete, while in others only some wiring remains to be done.

"The only thing delaying occupancy," stated a representative of the Federal Housing office on the premises today, "is that work on the gas mains is being delayed. When this work will be complete, we are not certain. We had planned to send notices to prospective tenants this week, but now we cannot tell when the gas mains will be completed to permit notification of those who desire to move in. We have more than enough applicants to fill all of the units."

The Management and Maintenance Building on the premises is finished. The engineers and auditors are using this structure temporarily. The management group is using one of the houses temporarily for an office, but will soon move into the M. & M. Building.

Street signs have been placed on the three thoroughfares, namely Schumacher Drive, Murphy Avenue, and Jan Good Place. Signs have also been placed on Beaver Dam Road.

PALE MOON STREET LIGHTS

Announcement by engineers of the General Electric Company of the perfection of a "blackout" street light will be welcomed by everyone who is aware of the numerous traffic deaths and injuries resulting from blackouts in London and other cities of Europe.

The new invention is said to shed light equal to about one-sixtieth of the illumination of a full moon. According to A. F. Dickerson, head of the General Electric light division, the lights will be "completely invisible" to enemy fliers and will be "just enough, no more, to keep a person on his homeward path." The lights are described as being safe from flying shell fragments and debris as they contain no glass, "only a small amount of plastics and cast iron."

Since aerial warfare shows every indication of growing in intensity, it may be that American cities will be forced to resort to the blackout on a large scale. With American planes participating in the RAF raids on Germany, it is possible that the Nazis will retaliate with raids on cities of the United States. Street lamps which permit sufficient illumination to enable traffic to move without giving information to enemy fliers would be invaluable in crowded urban districts.

Nor will all the people on the streets in blackouts be on their "homeward path," as Mr. Dickerson seems to believe. Many of them will be on their way to the war plants if production is not to be hampered.

RATION "K"

Some of the more venturesome newspapermen are having a time experimenting with the Army's new field ration "K." A few of them, at least, having passed from legman assignments to special articles, lead what might be called sedentary lives, their chief exercise being the hike from the taxi at the curb to the elevator. Scientists under the *skin, they start out on long jaunts, carrying their Army ration with them.

None has testified that he preferred "K" to a porterhouse, but they all admit that the contents of those three little boxes are filling. In fact, the breakfast ration, which comes in a two-by-four-inch container, was more than most of them could manage, while dinner and supper appeased all hunger if they did not cater to the palate.

And no wonder. Ration "K" is the result of many months of experimentation by chemists and nutrition experts. Each daily ration contains 726 more calories than the average person needs. Nothing is revealed about the vitamins, except that the Army has taken care of them, too.

Ration "K" is not a substitute for the field kitchen. It is an emergency package to tide a soldier over a period of twenty-four otherwise foodless hours. Had a little "K" been available to George Washington's tottered troops now and then, they might have licked the Red Coats a great deal sooner.

That American soldier from Washington state who has a chest measurement of 57 inches knows what the whole Army will feel like when it marches into Tokyo.

A magic word from the Wizard of Krum Elbow and Genial Jim Farley's famous bag of 1932 becomes the sandbag of 1942.

cent tax, it is estimated, would raise more than $2,700,000,000, while five per cent, would net nearly $4,000,000,000. In no other way can any approaching such sums be raised; in no other way can the Treasury be brought even remotely in sight of solvency. Yet, all down the line the politicians flinch when the subject is mentioned. The reason can be traced back to that time, just before his 1933 inauguration, when the President prevented a Democratic Senate from passing a sales tax bill by saying that he was "horried at the idea."

WHY WAS HE "horried"? And why, since that day, have the smaller politicians acted as though the sales tax were the smallpox? The answer is because of the argument that it is a tax upon the poor man instead of the rich. In reality this is not an argument; in reality it is a sheer demagogic appeal. Nevertheless, dread of that cry being raised has kept from espousal of the sales tax many a member of Congress who privately believes in its desirability and fairness. If all such could be induced to consider the situation in California as recently presented by the Los Angeles Times, it might cure their fright. It might even alter the attitude of the Senate Finance Committee which is now making inadequate changes in the grossly inadequate House bill.

AFTER STATING THAT the three per cent tax, in force a number of years in California, had netted the State last year the record-breaking total of $131,354,210, the Times editorial says of it—"The people realize that it has lifted the State from what looked like hopeless insolvency to relative affluence, with no more pain to anyone than comes from having to carry around a few pennies in one's pocket. By and large, prices are no higher in California as a result of the sales tax than in States that do not have it." Even more convincing is the point that protests against the sales tax, have now dwindled to "next to nothing" and while there is a move on foot to repeal the State income tax, there is none to repeal the sales tax.

THAT WOULD BE significant in any State but it is more significant in California than in any other. Because California is the home of direct legislation by the people and probably has a larger collection of windbags and crackpots among its politicians than any other. If in California the tax had been found to work hardship on any large number of voters, or to be unpopular with them, long ago there would have arisen a movement to wipe it out. California teems with politicians who never overlook a chance to pose as the "poor man's friend." If there had been an opportunity to do that with the State's sales tax the California demagogues would have trampled each other in seizing it. "California," says the Los Angeles Times, "is a representative State. What works well in California would work well in any and all parts of the United States." Of course it would, and it might help a lot if, putting aside his "horror," every Senator would familiarize himself with the California sales-tax situation before the pending tax bill is reported.

service 2½ years; and Robert, who enlisted one month ago.

John, a Quartermaster Second Class, is stationed aboard a submarine in the Pacific Ocean. He has seen service in Iceland but since Pearl Harbor has been changed to the Pacific war theatre. John hasn't been home in almost three years. He is a graduate of Yardley high school, class of 1932.

Richard is a coxswain aboard a battleship in the Atlantic Ocean. Richard, 23 years old, graduated from New Hope high school, in 1937.

Robert is now stationed at the Naval Training station at Newport, R. I. An apprentice seaman, Robert is 25 years of age and is a graduate of Trenton high school, in 1934. Before he enlisted, he was employed by the Commerce Department, in Washington, D. C.

Walter, 18, and Louis, 13, are the other two sons. The former, a graduate of Morrisville high school in 1942, is now employed by the War Department, as is his father, in Philadelphia. The Appletons have one other child, a daughter, Mrs. James Parsons.

to do with the way it looks and how long it wears. Be gentle with your frocks. Don't pull or yank when putting on or taking off a dress. The best of seams will give way if you pull hard enough and the dress fabric may also break.

If you do rip a seam, or get a hole or tear in a dress, mend it right away before the damage can get any worse. You can darn many holes and worn places so that the mend is hardly noticeable. When patching a print dress, match the patch with the print. It will be less obvious. A stitch in time will also catch a loose button and may save you from having to replace a whole set.

Give your dresses enough closet room so they will not be crowded. A little space between each garment helps to hold the press and preserves the fabric from getting that stringy look. Hang up a dress as soon as you take it off. Use hangers as near the shape of your dress shoulders as possible. Wooden or padded hangers are generally best.

Unless your closet is exceptionally well ventilated, hang a dress where air can circulate freely around and through it before you put it away. This is very important in hot weather when frocks are often damp with perspiration.

Before you hang up a frock be sure to fasten it enough so it will not sag out of shape. This also prevents anything from catching and snagging on hooks, buttons, and zippers. Remove the belt from a dress and hang it separately. If it has a buckle, suspend it by this from the hook part of the hanger—if not, drape it over the rod section. If left on the dress, the belt's weight sometimes pulls too heavily on the dress material and makes wrinkles. When traveling, pack dresses loosely with tissue paper between folds and in the sleeves. Unpack and hang up dresses as soon as you can. In some fabrics, creases caused by packing will soon disappear, especially if the weather is damp.

Washable dresses are most satisfactory for general summer wear because you can cleanse them thoroughly. But when laundering a dress, be sure you know the kind of fabric of which it is made before you put it into water. Some fabrics require special care.

Close all zippers before laundering a frock. Check on trimmings, buttons, and other fastenings also to make certain they are washable—if not, take them off the dress before it goes into the tub. Some buttons are not colorfast for instance, and others do not look well after a tubbing.

Wash cottons and washable silks and rayons in warm water, never in hot water. Use a mild soap that will not affect the color, and rinse thoroughly. Squeeze rayons in the wash water when laundering them. Never rub rayons because some types are weak when wet. Also watch out for colors that might "bleed" into other garments.

In case you have a frock with colors that might "bleed," wash it separately and as quickly as you can. Then roll it in a towel and squeeze gently to remove surplus water. Take it out and dry it as soon as possible. Iron when the frock is almost dry.

If you use a wringer for some of your more sturdy dresses, put them through wrong side out or turn buttons under so they cannot be easily caught or broken. Also make certain that buttons are flat and be on the lookout for anything that might cut or snag the fabric.

Hang washable frocks outdoors in the shade to dry. Never hang them in the sun—some colors might fade. If you prefer, put your better dresses on hangers inside the house but where air can reach them. Sheer wash frocks look better if rolled in a Turkish towel immediately after washing, then ironed at once.

When ironing, watch the temperature of your iron. Do not let it get too hot. Some fabrics, such as acetates and nylon, will melt under a hot iron, and all materials can be scorched. Keep in mind the pressure you are using on your iron also. Fabrics with rough weaves look better if not pressed down flat.

Materials such as linens, linen-like rayons, rayon sheers, acetates, creases, resistant fabrics, shantung weaves, dotted swiss, and cotton seersucker are samples of those which look better if ironed on the wrong side. In fact, this applies to any fabric with a rough texture. It prevents shine and also brings out the fabric texture more than ironing on the right side.

Many incidents are being planned to keep the police on their toes. A number of homes will be evacuated and the occupants transported to the Croydon School where they will be cared for by the Red Cross under the direction of Mrs. Harry Fredericks. Frank Friel will be in charge of the transportation unit. The firemen will fight imaginary fires which will be reported to the relay center by wardens and police. The relay center will be located in the Croydon School.

Permission was granted for the test by Dr. A. C. he did not want to get him into trouble, and he asked if he might make good the shortage in monthly payments, Morlok reported the matter to the president of the Board of Directors of the bank.

When Morlok was asked by Senator James if accounts other than that of Mrs. Buckman was involved, the reply was that "Epstein Brothers, New York, and Father Brady's accounts" were involved. The witness stated that about 95 checks represented the amount, and that all but two or three were found in an envelope hidden in a file in another room. The witness was cross-examined by Senator James after he had given his testimony at the direction of Assistant District Attorney Curtin.

Anderson, at the suggestion of his attorney, did not testify.

The case against Sellers was called and Assistant District Attorney Curtin announced that Mr. Morlok would give practically the same testimony against Sellers as he had given in the Anderson case. Mr. Morlok was not called to the stand as Sellers admitted the truth of his statement, and said that it covered quite completely his confession.

When asked if he had received any remuneration for withholding the Anderson checks, Sellers' reply was "Only some cakes and meats as set forth in my confession." Asked to further explain this Sellers said that he had gotten meats at reduced rates, and cited instances where he made meat purchases at the Anderson market, on inquiring as to the price, was told by Anderson "No, you are doing us a favor."

In reply to being questioned Sellers said that on numerous occasions he had taken deposits from Anderson while in Anderson's store, but that the slips were always made out by Anderson.

Senator James endeavored to have Anderson's bail reduced from $5,000, and made the same as Sellers, which was $2500. After considering the case and hearing objections from both the assistant district attorney and other lawyers concerned Justice Keating set the bail at $5,000 for each.

Two charges of embezzlement and one charge of false entries against Sellers were then called, and it was decided by Justice Keating that the $5,000 bail originally fixed would be sufficient.

Mr. Hobensack is a veteran of World War No. 1, having served overseas. Governor Arthur H. James made the announcement this week.

Under the Auxiliary set-up, hundreds of armed "minute man" units will be organized.

Immediately certificated, the dozen officers will establish initial auxiliary companies in respective counties. Recommended by committees comprising the chairman of the county defense council, the sheriff and mayor or burgess of the principal city or borough, the company captains so far include: Raymond McCollum, Milford, Pike county, and Hobensack.

The auxiliary was established on July 14th by a directive from James to Major Gen. Edward Martin, State adjutant general. Expected to have an initial membership of 25,000, the auxiliary is under control of the State Home Guard, commanded by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Vail, deputy adjutant general.

Earlier, Dr. A. C. Martz, State Defense Council chief, urged other county committees to submit their captaincy recommendations. Two lieutenants will serve under each company captain.

Army and state military officials emphasized the various sportsmen groups throughout the Commonwealth will be absorbed into the auxiliary to provide a complete chain of command in any eventuality. The setup will be complete in 90 days, it was said, when "no weird armies or guerrillas will be permitted to wander around with guns in their hands."

The auxiliary members will not be uniformed and will furnish their own rifle and other necessities for local guard duty. They will be identified by armbands or brassards.

Bucks Co. Dancers Perform
At the Stage Door Canteen

NEW HOPE, Aug. 7.—The Eugene Loring Company of American theatre dancers, who are summering at New Hope, entertained boys in Uncle Sam's service at the Stage Door Canteen, Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening.

Excerpts from "Billy the Kid" formed part of the presentation, this being based on a legend of the west. Loring danced the role of Billy, and Janet Reed played the part of his sweetheart.

The program is to be repeated at Phillips Mill, here, tonight and tomorrow afternoon.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God, who orderest the rising and setting suns and leadest forth the seasons in due succession so that spring and summer, autumn and winter fail not, we thank thee for thy constancy; for thy abiding love, for thy unchanging mercy. We are grateful that above the din of present conflict we can still hear the voice of Christ saying, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give thee rest." May we obtain rest from the arduous tasks of life and rest from the burden of sin in Him Who thus has called us. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

The radio broadcasts of Jack Benny "Keep 'Em Laughing" brings an all-star cast of screen and radio favorites to the Bristol Theatre for a two-day run today.

Jack Benny plays a master of ceremonies broadcasting from a palatial ocean liner plying between New York and Europe in this sparkling comedy drama with music, mystery and romance.

Roy Rogers in "South of Santa Fe" is the other picture of a double feature.

GRAND THEATRE

Screen scoop of the year was scored by Universal in making "Broadway," the thrilling drama of New York after dark which opens today at the Grand Theatre with George Raft and Pat O'Brien as its co-stars. "Broadway" is the first, and possibly the last film feature of current war-time to provide a visual picture at New York as it appears with its "face lifted" to conform to war strategy regulations.

To Producer Bruce Manning, ex-newspaperman, author and playwright, goes credit for anticipating a "blackout" of New York's new silhouette "for the duration."

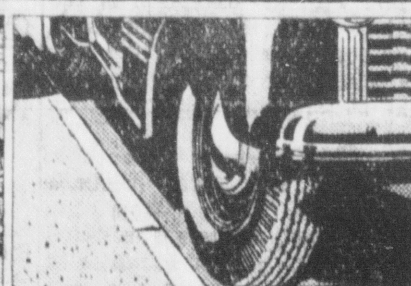

RITZ THEATRE

At least one Marine in the U. S. Marine Corps looks exactly like John Payne—in the back of the neck. And because he does, he earned $75—just to get a haircut he would have had to undergo anyway.

The lucky Marine who thus earned several months pay in less than four minutes is Private Phillip Earle, of Milwaukee, a recruit. Shot from the Tripoli shows Payne getting a regular haircut, a scene in "To the Shores of Tripoli," close-clipped Marine haircut.

How to make your car last a lot longer

Five neighbors, with only 6,000 miles left on their tires, can, by taking turns driving, each ride 30,000 miles before any re-treading is necessary. Start or on a driving club today and save precious tires.

Don't bump into or scrape curbs. Check pressure weekly. Thirty per cent under-inflation reduces tire mileage 50 per cent. Drive "40 or less." Avoid "squeaking" on turns . . . many extra tire miles will result.

Visit a Pontiac dealer at least once a month for a wheel alignment check. A wheel one-half inch out of line will drag a tire sideways 87 feet in every mile. Have him switch tires every 4,000 miles, too.

Pontiac's FREE "Motor Doctor" inspection prevents little troubles from becoming costly repairs. Regular inspection by your Pontiac dealer is the cheapest way to preserve something you can't replace until the war is won.

VOLTZ NINE MOVES STEP CLOSER TO CHAMPIONSHIP OF SECOND HALF IN SUBURBAN LEAGUE RACE

The Voltz-Texaco team moved a step closer to the second half championship of the Bristol Suburban League by handing the Hunter team a 7-1 reverse last night on St. Ann's field. The victory put the gasoliers a game and one-half in the lead.

"Loggie" Bragg's hurling and three hits by Art Kramers featured the games. One of Kramers' hits got away from Rotundo for a home run and the other two were singles.

Bragg held the losers to three bingles and with the exception of the first inning when the Hunter team passed up its golden opportunity was never in serious trouble. Bragg fanned eight batters and issued but one pass.

The munition workers used three barriers on the hill. "Bill" McCabe started and was shelled from the peak in the third. Rotundo relieved him and then gave way to Palumbo in the fourth. Kramers' home run was the only hit off Palumbo, he striking out two batters.

The winning team had nine hits to its credit, five of these going to Kramers and Johnny Dougherty who had a double and single in two official trips to the plate.

Fate of 8 Nazi Saboteurs Not Fully Disclosed by Pres't

The spies, if convicted, would either be hung on the gallows or lined up before a firing squad. However, it was definitely learned that the six will be electrocuted and that permission has been obtained from the commissioners of the District of Columbia to execute them in the electric chair in the District's jail.

At the same time, it became known that the six doomed saboteurs are being kept in a row of cells separated from the other two spies. The jail wing where the spies are held was formerly the women's detention cellblock but it is now a small arsenal, guarded by a

SAVE SHIPPING SPACE

CAMP STEWART, Ga.—(INS)—Saving at least 40 per cent of vital shipping space has been simply accomplished by a new means of packing shoes, the quartermaster corps at Camp Stewart revealed. Individual shoe boxes and tissue paper have been eliminated from the packing cases while the cases are lined with water-proof paper. Because more shoes can be enclosed in the packing cases, a total shipment requires about 40 per cent less space.

CHAPLAINS

The Chaplains unit of the U. S. Citizens Defense Corps has been established in an administrative order issued recently by James M. Landis, Director of the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense. This is not one of the protective services but is classed as a related service.

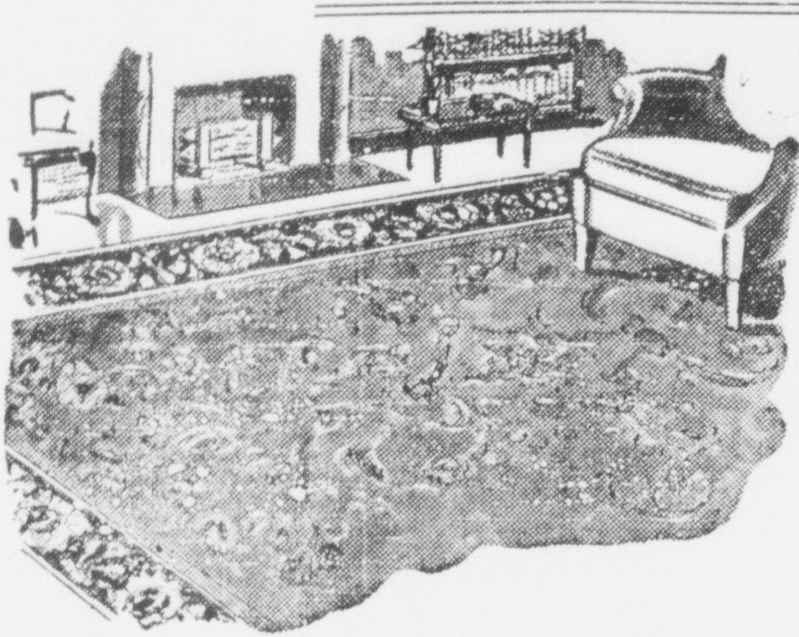

The insignia for the new unit follows that in use by the U. S. armed forces with the addition of the traditional OCD background. The insignia for the Christian Chaplain is the Latin Cross in red, in a white triangle in a circular field of blue. The insignia for the Jewish Chaplain consists of the six-pointed star centered above "Tables of the Law" in silhouette in red, within a white triangle in a circular field of blue.

Chaplains will administer to the religious and spiritual needs of persons suffering from the effects of air raids or other disaster. They will be appointed by the local authorities upon complying with usual requirements for membership in the U. S. Citizens Defense Corps, except no special training courses are prescribed.
